

The Interview

Patrick O'Flanagan

University College Cork (Irlanda)

Which are the Symbios Project achievements?

Creating through workshops European comparative or contrasting perspectives for Galicia ruralities. Detailing how other European states are managing population decline, facilitating Xunta de Galicia policymakers with methodologies for tackling problems of rural decline in similar types or rural areas like Ireland and different ones such as Holland, emphasising the major role of ONGS in Europe in combatting rural decay and social disintegration.

Which are the possible future lines of action for the Symbios Project?

Devising and diffusing methodologies for local and regional Galician communities for fighting decline, employing ICT to achieve change through the medium municipal and comarcal resource centres, working with European and American Universities to formulate and deliver through ICT rural development learning programmes, empowering Galicia's provincial capitals with centres promoting rural innovation.